CONFERENCES.

The General Conference, our law-making body, which meets every four years, shall be composed of one clerical member for every forty-eight members of each Annual Conference, and an equal number of lay members. The clerical representatives shall be elected by clerical members of the Annual Conference, and the lay representatives by lay members.

The Annual Conference is composed of all the traveling preachers in full connection with it, and four lay representatives from each presiding elder's district. The lay members are elected by the laymen of each District Conference. Such members must be twenty-five years of age, and they must have been members of the Church for six years.

The District Conference shall be composed of all the preachers, traveling and local, of the district, the recording stewards of the same, and of laymen, the number of whom, and manner of appointment, each Annual Conference may decide for itself. In compliance with this provision, the Holston Conference, in session at Abingdon, Va., in 1879, fixed the ratio at one delegate for every eighty laymen, to be elected by the Quarterly Conference of the several pastoral charges embraced in the said district; provided, that no charge shall be entitled to more than eight, nor denied a less number than four, delegates. The District Conference meets annually.

The Quarterly Conference shall be composed of all the traveling and local preachers, including superannuated preachers, residing within the circuit or station (whether without or within the limits of the Annual Conference to which they belong), with the exhorters, stewards, trustees who are members of the Church, and class-leaders, of the respective circuits, stations and missions, together with superintendents of Sunday-schools who are members of the Church, secretaries of Church Conferences, presidents of Senior Epworth Leagues, if eligible, and none others.

The Church Conference consists of all the members of a particular church, or class, with resident members of the Annual Conference. It should meet once a month on stations, once a quarter on circuits.

CONFERENCE REPORTS.

TEMPERANCE.

Your Committee on Temperance submits the following report:

We offer first for your encouragement the following facts:

Prior to 1877 in the State of Tennessee, where a large part of the Holston Conference lies, liquor could be legally sold in every county, city, town, hamlet and village. Today, by means of the Four-Mile Law and its extension in the Adams Law, liquor has been driven from every country district in the State, and it is legally sold in only seventeen towns and cities. Only eight cities with a population of over five thousand, and nine towns with a population under five thousand, have license to sell liquor. This puts liquor in only twelve counties out of ninety-six in the State. Eighty-four counties out of ninety-six are today free from the legalized saloon. The condition is almost as favorable in that part of Virginia and Georgia covered by the Holston Conference. We deem it a most encouraging feature of our progress that the political parties that laughed at temperance legislation ten years ago are today proclaiming themselves for temperance legislation, and the candidates of all parties are bragging on their temperance records. Good citizens everywhere are waking up, and are lining up with the temperance people, and the outlook is most hopeful. If we may judge by present indications, the time is not far distant when the legalized saloon must go from Holston territory. There is great danger, however, of losing the splendid position we have gained, of resting on our oars while the insidious, tireless, and unscrupulous liquor power destroys the positions already taken by us with agitation and earnest labor.

We would call attention to the fact that alcoholic spirits is not our only enemy. As this giant enemy retires to the background, others are coming to the front. We, therefore, call attention, first, to morphine, cocaine, absinthe, and other "dopes," which are being used to an alarming extent. Many of the drug stores are becoming little else than distributors of dope through their soda fountains and other means.

We call attention, second, to the tobacco habit. This habit in various forms is preying upon our young men especially. Tobacco in the form of cigarettes is, by all thoughtful people, condemned as an agent that burns up the mind, injures the nerves and destroys the moral quality. Some large business firms have decided to refuse to employ a cigarette smoker, because the use of cigarettes impairs the memory and renders a man unreliable for business. Others have found that the moral quality is blunted, and the habitual user of cigarettes cannot be fully trusted. All moral reformers must reckon cigarettes as an enemy, and the preacher is in a poor position to fight tobacco in one form and use it in another. We, therefore, urge our preachers—especially our young preachers—to give up the use of tobacco, if for no other reason, on account of the example to the young. Most of our parishioners prefer that their boys shall not use tobacco in any form, and no preacher should put himself in the way of good parents in their efforts to give to the world clean sons.

We call attention to "Coca Cola." While it commenced as an apparently innocent drink, yet it is the coming enemy to our young men, for these reasons: First, it contains chiefly caffeine, or the elements of strong coffee, and therefore keeps awake; second, it stimulates the whole nervous system; and third, it produces a habit almost as strong as the tobacco habit. Keep an average boy awake till two o'clock in the morning, fire and stimulate his whole nervous system, and turn him loose in a town or city full of temptations, and his destruction is almost sure to follow. Mothers all over this land are bewailing the fact that their boys do not come home at night and retire as they used to do, and "Coca Cola" is one of the chief causes of this nocturnal revel. We warn our preachers to guard against this subtle enemy.

As legislation can be secured only by legislators, and legislators are secured by ballots, and ballots are cast by citizens, we urge the preachers to do all in their power to stir up the citizenship of this country to the fact that the ballot is the most effective weapon against this gigantic evil. We therefore urge that all possible efforts be made to elect men who favor temperance legislation.

We call special attention to the effort to extend in Tennessee the Four-Mile Law to all towns and cities of the State, and to the effort to secure by National Congress the passage of the Hepburn-Dolliver Bill, and urge most earnest effort in the accomplishment of their ends. We most heartily commend the Prohibition Party, the Anti-Saloon League, the W. C. T. U., and all other agencies used to create sentiment against the liquor traffic; and, as the primary aim of all these agencies is to prohibit the manufacture, sale and use of alcoholic liquors, while we do not commit this body narrowly to either or any particular order, we recommend the most kindly and co-operative spirit toward all organizations to promote the temperance sentiment, and urge that each adopt the most feasible means in his judgment to secure the end, and do somewhere, somehow, his best work to abolish the liquor traffic.

GEO. R. STUART, Chairman.

BIBLE BOARD.

Though beset with many difficulties, and handicapped financially, we are truly grateful that the American Bible Society has been able to send forth nearly two million copies and portions of the Bible, in one hundred tongues, and at absolute cost of production. Nearly two-thirds of the issues of the society have gone to foreign lands.

Notwithstanding the fact that all the patronizing churches have nobly responded to the appeals for help, yet, because of growing needs, and the fact that personal gifts and legacies have continued to fall off, the secretaries state that the financial condition now is more serious than ever before. It must help or contract its work and necessarily its usefulness.

Because of this pressing need and the belief that when the facts are before the churches they will come to the rescue, the management of the society has decided to celebrate the nineteenth anniversary of its organization February 25, 1906. The 8th of May is the real anniversary, but because the Bible Society year always ends March 1st of each year, and that the society may pass the nineteenth mile post of its history without financial embarrassment, and that the managers may be able honestly and intelligently to make up the budget for 1906, they need the proceeds of the Anniversary Day in the treasury before their society year closes.

To make Anniversary Day a success it is necessary to hold preliminary mass meetings in all our churches. These should be held in December, January and February. The society kindly requests all of the churches, where at all practicable, to see that their donations for 1906 are in the hands of the treasurer at New York before March 31, 1906.

Since the Field Agent's territory has been so enlarged by the addition of the States Arkansas and Texas, Dr. Geo. D. French will not be able to superintend these proposed preliminary meetings in our midst. In view of these facts we offer the following resolutions for your adoption:

Resolved, first, The amount assessed for American Bible Society for 1905-6 be $1,100.00. The districts assessed as follows: Radford, $120.00; Tazewell, $120.00; Wytheville, $120.00; Abingdon, $125.00; Big Stone Gap, $85.00; Morristown, $115.00; Knoxville, $130.00; Cleveland, $100.00; Chattanooga, $120.00; Spring City, $65.00.

Resolved, second, That we observe Bible Day on February 25, 1906, and that the Presiding Elders of the Morristown, Abingdon and Knoxville Districts (because centrally located) be requested to co-operate with the Bible Board of this Conference in the months of December, January and February.

Resolved, third, That we have our offering for American Bible Society in the hands of the treasurer at New York before March 31, 1906.

CHURCH EXTENSION.

The Board of Church Extension would call your attention to the following facts:

1st. The year has witnessed the building of a large number of churches throughout our entire Conference. This Church in which our Conference has been held will stand as a monument to the zeal and liberality of this congregation and pastor. Our new Centenary Church, Knoxville, has been completed and dedicated. The small towns and suburbs of the cities have also wrought well in the matter of housing their congregations. Not only have a large number of new churches been built, but these buildings are of high grade and modern in their architecture. Beautiful new churches, with Sunday school and class rooms, are adorning the hills in the remotest regions of our territory, as well as the streets of our towns and cities. The work of the Board is not confined simply to the disbursement of the few dollars committed to us for that purpose, but an effort is being made to create a sentiment in favor of houses of worship that represent the wealth and intelligence and spirituality of our people. How far we are succeeding is attested by the character of buildings that are being erected.

2nd. The Board has directly helped 21 churches in the sum of $2,185.00 during the past year. We were obliged to scale all applications owing to the lack of funds. This year 24 churches have asked aid in the sum of $4,105.00. Some of these have not been given even a small appropriation because no actual work has been done on them. This Board does not undertake to pioneer the work except at strategic points. The most we can do is to complete the work after the local church has done all it can.

The following churches have been given the amounts indicated below:

COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT.

We, the undersigned, members of the committee created by your action one year ago for the purpose of directing and promoting the raising of $77,000 to be applied in carrying out a scheme of improvements for Emory and Henry College, respectfully submit the following report:

The committee held its first session in State Street Church in Bristol, Va.-Tenn., Dec. 1, 1904, L. L. H. Carlock, R. G. Waterhouse, W. S. Neighbors and J. A. Burrow being present. The other member, Judge W. P. Dungan, owing to pressure of other duties, announced through the chairman his inability to serve. The committee was organized by electing L. L. H. Carlock chairman and treasurer and W. S. Neighbors secretary.

After a careful examination of the items included in the scheme of improvements, it was unanimously decided that these represented urgent needs of the institution, and that these needs could not be possibly met with a less sum than the $77,000 asked for. As to the basis for the apportionment of this amount, it was decided that both the willingness and the ability of our people ought to be taken into account, and that the committee had not sufficient information to do this work wisely at that time. It was, therefore, decided to make an appeal to the preachers in charge for names of those within their bounds who were able and might be induced to give sums ranging from $25 to $1,000.

It was also the unanimous opinion of the committee that a larger measure of willingness to give upon the part of our people must be created, and that this could be done only through the dissemination of the fullest possible information concerning the needs, meritorious claims, and great importance of the Institution. Hence a committee to prepare for publication certain articles of information and appeal was appointed, which committee has thus far accomplished only a measure of what was expected. In furtherance of the same end, our chairman was instructed to arrange with the Presiding Elder of each District for a full discussion of our undertaking in each of the District Conferences. This instruction was fully carried out in every one of the ten Districts with most encouraging results so far as we are able to judge.

As directed by you, your committee also endeavored to constitute in each District a committee of co-operation. Not everything hoped for in this direction was realized, but we are gratified to report that we have the cordial co-operation of each Presiding Elder, and have secured most valuable aid in discussions from the following brethren; R. K. Sutherland, T. J. Eskridge, J. O. Straley, D. S. Hearon, M. P. Carico, J. H. Groseclose, George F. Mellen, T. C. Schuler, I. P. Martin, S. G. Gilbreath, E. E. Wiley, and deserving of special mention, Judge R. C. Jackson, of Wytheville, Va.

The committee secured, at no cost to itself or its enterprise, but at the expense of the treasury of Emory and Henry College, the services of Rev. J. R. Hunter to carry on first its correspondence from about Dec. 2, 1904, to May 10, 1905, and, second, to conduct this correspondence and in some good measure act as field agent from the last named date to the present time. The results of his work in cash and notes aggregate $3,000. Besides this he has promises not yet reduced to writing that ought to yield at least $5,000. It should also be stated that a considerable portion of his time has been employed in securing an influential batch of letters and recommendations to accompany an application to Mr. Andrew Carnegie, made by the President of the College in the name of the trustees for a conditional gift of $75,000, and in the preparation of a map, making a most telling and influential exhibit of the character of our territory and the merits of our institution, to be sent to the General Education Board, located in New York, through Capt.

C. E. Vawter, an alumnus and trustee of the College, with a view to securing such aid as said Board may be inclined to give.

While the results thus far achieved, material and immaterial, are not, so far as we can estimate them, all that we could hope for, yet they are such as minister real encouragement. And in the belief that no more important single enterprise has ever been undertaken by the Conference than the one we represent, we would announce the following convictions and recommendations:

CONVICTIONS.

1st. That this Committee, in the prosecution of this enterprise, is entitled to the enthusiastic support of every member, clerical and lay, of Holston Conference, and that any man who thinks he has reason to withhold his support can, if he will make known his difficulties to this Committee, be so answered and given such rational reasons for exerting his influence in behalf of the enterprise as will amply satisfy him.

2nd. That every effective preacher should feel in conscience bound to advocate this enterprise and to secure through his individual efforts such practical response to the cause as would leave no one of our 828 local churches unrepresented in the donations.

3rd. That while it is proper to make, in a form that does not compromise our self-respect, applications to the wealthy and philanthropic of other sections for aid, we cannot ignore the fact of our own supreme obligations to the cause and the greater blessing that will come to our Institution and to the great interest of Christian education which it represents through the numerous and cheerful gifts of our own people.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

1st. That the vacancy created by the transfer of Rev. W. S. Neighbors to a sister Conference be filled by the appointment of Rev. J. W. Perry, and that the men thus far secured to constitute co-operating committees within the Districts be used within whatever Districts their appointments may be for this incoming year and that the efforts of the Committee of Management be continued to find men for this work until the committee of each District is full.

2nd. That Rev. J. R. Hunter be appointed financial agent for Emory and Henry College, devoting himself to this enterprise and dividing his time between the work of office secretary and field agent as the Committee may direct, and that the Bishop appoint a second man, acceptable to this Committee, as financial agent, who shall devote his entire time to work in the field.

3rd. That the Committee of Management shall, on or before Dec. 1, 1905, begin the work of apportioning the whole $77,000 to be raised to the various pastoral charges of the Conference according to the best information that they may have or can get concerning the willingness and ability of these charges to accept of said apportionments. This Committee shall have power to fill all vacancies in both its own membership and that of the co-operative committees.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

REPORT NO. 1.

Your Board, having had under consideration the report of Dr. J. D. Hammond, General Secretary of Education, and of Prof. J. L. Cunningham, Director of the Correspondence School, also the educational institutions under the care of this Conference, respectfully submit the following declarations and recommendations:

The report of our General Secretary shows most gratifying increase throughout the Church in school buildings, scientific equipment, donations and patronage. The emphasis put by him on the importance of our mission work among the negroes and on the Pacific coast is heartily endorsed. We also rejoice in the growth of the Correspondence School and heartily commend the new lines of work contemplated and soon to be taken up.

Our three female colleges, Martha Washington, Sullins, and Centenary, are reported to us to be in a most flourishing condition. The new Presidents, Rev. M. D. Mitchell, of Martha Washington and Sullins Colleges, and Rev. Joseph W. Repass, of Centenary College, are gratifying the friends of these institutions by the way they have taken hold of and are carrying on their work.

Our Academies, located at Princeton, W. Va., Lebanon and Jonesville, in Virginia, and Pikeville and Jasper, in Tennessee, have all opened well. New men are in charge of the two in Virginia and the one in West Virginia—Rev. R. A. Stewart, of Princeton Academy; Rev. C. A. Brown, of Jonesville Institute, and Prof. D. E. McClearen, of Russell Academy. So far as we are informed, these men have been wisely selected and are starting off in their work well.

The last session of Emory and Henry College, closing June 13th, was, in most respects, the most successful in the last score or more of years. The enrollment was larger and the financial exhibit decidedly the most satisfactory since the founding of the Institution. The movement inaugurated by your action one year ago, looking to the progressive betterment of Emory and Henry College, is, in our judgment, absolutely essential. We are glad to report that a fair degree of success has attended our efforts during the year, and we represent for your adoption the statements of facts, convictions and recommendations found in the report of the Committee of Management.

We recommend the following appointments: J. W. Helvey and J. W. Lambert as students in Emory and Henry College, J. E. Lowry as President of Hiwassee College, W. D. Akers as Professor in Asbury College, A. S. Thorn as Principal of Athens Normal School, J. R. Hunter as Financial Agent of Emory and Henry College, J. W. Taylor as Principal of Newport Schools, J. A. Lyons as Conference Secretary of Education.

We recommend the following boards of visitors to our schools:

REPORT NO. 2.

That the mission of the church is to the whole man, and that she is to do him service in all that makes for his physical and mental as well as purely spiritual betterment, is a fact accepted today as never before in all her history. This acceptance is due primarily to two things: First, to the growing belief that body and brain are the redeemed soul's necessary and only natural equipment for earthly service, and, more especially, second, to the fuller acceptance of the Christ as He is revealed both in the New Testament record and in Christian consciousness as the friend and Saviour, not only of the soul, but of body and brain as well, both of which, with the soul redeemed by grace, are sacred in His sight and are to be developed and dedicated to His service. No conception of either the sinner or the

REPORT NO. 2.

That the mission of the church is to the whole man, and that she is to do him service in all that makes for his physical and mental as well as purely spiritual betterment, is a fact accepted today as never before in all her history. This acceptance is due primarily to two things: First, to the growing belief that body and brain are the redeemed soul's necessary and only natural equipment for earthly service, and, more especially, second, to the fuller acceptance of the Christ as He is revealed both in the New Testament record and in Christian consciousness as the friend and Saviour, not only of the soul, but of body and brain as well, both of which, with the soul redeemed by grace, are sacred in His sight and are to be developed and dedicated to His service. No conception of either the sinner or the Saviour which ignores this principle will ever win the faith of this matter-of-fact old world—whether in home or foreign lands. Heathenism persistently refused us access to its heart until the full orb'd Son of Righteous arose with healing in his wings—and hospitals and schools attested His and our sympathetic interest in the present and pressing needs of men. This is everywhere alike the one touch of nature that makes the whole world kinsmen of Jesus Christ and brings God's prodigal sons back to the Father's feet as conscious and confessed debtors to His grace.

Frankly and fully our missionaries in foreign fields have acknowledged their mistakes, and, in conjunction with their boards of control, are strenuously endeavoring to retrieve resultant disaster and to make such restitution as is possible to those so long deprived of the full benefits conferred on all the race in the gospel of our Lord.

Precisely this confession and amendment must be made in regard to home missions if we would hold the fields our fathers won. The precarious tenure of our occupancy can be made good only by fortifying ourselves in the affection of our people, by sharing with them the secret of our temporal comforts, by striking off the fetters of ignorance forced upon them by unfriendly conditions, by leading them out into the boundless realm of intellectual achievement which is theirs by right quite as much as ours.

As to the oft repeated assertion that our illiterate neighbors and kinsmen are the happiest people in the world, and, therefore, inferentially, in no need of schools, we need only remind you that this was oftener said of plantation slaves, and in refutation of its truth we oppose the fact that the sane man who deliberately seeks happiness in either illiteracy or slavery is yet to be found. That saying is but a thinly veiled paraphrase of the Roman Catholic dictum, "Ignorance is the mother of devotion," so long abhorred and denounced by protestants. Our familiarity with conditions of illiteracy existing in many parts of our territory, coupled with our experience of their open-handed hospitality, and our observation of the many other noble characteristics of our highland countrymen, have, without doubt, blunted our conception of duty as a Conference toward them.

In the light of facts, which, in various forms, have been brought to your attention during your present session, it must be clear to all, as it is to your Board, that a forward educational movement by us is not simply a solemn duty which we owe to our uneducated young people, but is also dictated as an absolute necessity by every prudential principle of church economics. The silent forces transform the natural world and control the universe. This statement applies with equal truth to human society. Majestic silence is characteristic of providential purpose, and of the divine government. Only the fool says in his heart, "There is no God." It were the height of folly to deny the potency of the educational forces represented on our Conference map of church schools—forces for which, at last, every true lover of his fellowmen must devoutly thank God despite his prejudice or his fears. Longer dalliance with the present duty is to invite, if not insure, disaster in the near future. A systematic policy of educational extension must be inaugurated at once, and be loyally and energetically supported, if we would not find ourselves supplanted by the superior sagacity of those who are not only alien to us in doctrine and practice but also foreign to our commonwealths. Let the drowsy giant of Holston Methodism be awakened, even rudely, if need be. The silent stars of education fight against the Sisera of ignorance. We, therefore, submit for your approval and, as we trust, to your active co-operation for its successful development, a plan for the extension of our conference school work.

1st. Preachers and Presiding Elders are to report to J. R. Hunter, secretary of our Executive Committee, all school property and sites and farmlands for industrial schools which are deemed available for our use in order that the same may be properly investigated; but it is to be remembered that we have no fund for the purchase of such property.

2nd. Local primary schools at strategic points being in most urgent demand, let specific information be furnished as promptly as possible of places where such schools could and should be established in available buildings.

3rd. Let J. A. Lyons, of the Board of Education, J. O. Straley, of the Board of Church Extension, and T. C. Schuler, of the Domestic Mission Board, be appointed a special committee to confer with Mrs. E. E. Wiley and others of the Woman's Home Mission Society, and let this committee be empowered to co-operate with the Executive Committee of our Board of Education in taking such steps as may be necessary to the equipment, operation and oversight of said primary schools.

4th. Let Presiding Elders, with consent of the Bishop, be fully authorized to sanction the employment as teachers in said schools of preachers appointed to circuits or missions, or their wives or daughters, when in their judgment this course can be advantageously adopted in any given locality.

5th. Teachers endorsed by the Woman's Home Mission Society are to be employed in such schools as may be designated by the joint committee indicated in section 3 when provision for their support is made.

6th. Let $100 of the Educational Fund to be collected the ensuing conference year be put into the hands of the joint committee named in section 3 for the development of this plan.

STATE OF THE CHURCH.

Your Committee on the Spiritual State of the Church submits the following:

The reports made by the Presiding Elders from their respective Districts of the number of conversions and accessions to the church were very gratifying indeed. They show more than fourteen thousand conversions and nearly eight thousand accessions to the church. In view of the prosperous condition of the country, the rapid material development, sharp competition and business haste, this is a very encouraging report.

The Woman's Missionary Societies, Home and Foreign, Epworth Leagues, Senior and Junior, together with the Sunday school department of the church, are reported to be in a healthy, prosperous condition. It is noteworthy that the most extensive revivals among us have been conducted comparatively by young men. While much has been done (and with pleasure we record it) much still remains to do. All the societies organized in our charge, the houses built in which to worship, money collected for pastors and all benevolent purposes, are but preparation in part, for the more important work to which God has called us.

The first and most important of all things in the church, is personal experience of saving grace, the witness of the spirit, the ability to say, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," or, in the absence of such an experience, that which is next to it in point of importance—earnestly and humbly seeking that assurance of acceptance with God which gives peace and rest to the soul. Our aggressiveness and success does not depend on our organization or wealth, but the spirit of a life.

While the spiritual condition of our church discovers itself in many ways, it is not as robust as it should be. It needs to leave its babyhood and milk, and go on to maturity—to the full stature of men and women in Christ. Secret prayer, family devotions, careful study of the Word, visiting the sick, helping the needy, seeking to reconcile those who are at variance among themselves—these and other graces of the Gospel would go far to increase our personal comfort and power for good as a church. Therefore, be it

Resolved (1), That the conversion of sinners being the primary object of all preaching and Christian work, we will, by renewed personal consecration of heart to Christ, seek a fuller baptism of the spirit of love.

Resolved (2), That we will endeavor, by God's help, to be more fruitful as Christians by doing personal work.

Resolved (3), That we will endeavor, with all readiness, to give a reason for the hope that is in us.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

We are gratified to note the growing and healthy condition of our Publishing House at Nashville, and its branch at Dallas, Tex. The approved exhibit of the Committee shows gross sales covering a period of nine months to be $437,691.46, with a net increase covering the same period of $28,362.02. When we remember that sales of the Hymn Book and the Discipline have practically ceased for the time being we think this a very encouraging report.

The House publishes a great variety of excellent books at the most reasonable prices, and they are increasing the libraries of thousands of homes and are elevating the people to a higher plane of Christian living. Just here we do not think it improper to specially mention our excellent history of Holston Methodism by our own Dr. R. N. Price. We have been informed that 3,029 copies of Vol. 1 have been published, and that all of them have been sold except less than 200 copies. It is the opinion of your committee that a larger number of this volume ought to be circulated among our people. We are happy to learn that the manuscript of Vol. 2 is ready for the press, and we urge our preachers to pay up the little balance held against them by the author so as to render it prudent to turn over the manuscript of this volume to our Publishing House. We are satisfied that Vol. 2 will be even more interesting to our people than Vol. 1 because it comes nearer to our times and deals with names that are more or less familiar to us. We urge our preachers to subscribe liberally in advance for this volume, and the author to keep up his historical work till he brings the annals to the present time.

We note specially certain recently published books from our Publishing House as follows: "The Kingdom and the Cradle," by Dr. James Atkins; "The Cole Lectures of 1905," as delivered by Dr. A. Cuthbert Hall, under the title of the "Universal Elements of the Christian Religion;" Dr. Hamill's "The Old South," now in its seventh edition. These and other books should become part of the library of every Methodist preacher and of very many laymen.

We note also the appearance at last of the new Church Hymnal, the labor of many months of able men by the two great Methodisms, North and South. No finer piece of work has been done, whether typographically or in the way of scholarly and evangelical compilation than this truly great and modern Hymnal.

As to our periodical literature, our Church has a right to be proud. Waile not fanciful or ornate in material and style it is a credit to our Publishing House, and gives to the Church the very best and latest religious thought and news in all departments of work. The Methodist Review is second to no similar publication, and is truly an honor to the Editor and the Church. The Christian Advocate keeps pace with changing typographical forms, and steadily improves and grows in the favor of a large and increasing body of patrons. The Epworth Era has largely increased its columns, and, in every way, added to its interest as the special favorite of our young people. Our Missionary Organs, "Go Forward," the "Missionary Advocate," and "Our Homes," are taken and read by a great number of earnest lovers of the Missionary cause, both foreign and home. The Children's Visitor and the Sundry School Magazine have been phenomenal in the present quadrennium and have added many thousands of dollars to the income of the Publishing House. It is a matter of note and worthy of the highest commendation that the three books of the Circle Course of our Teachers' Training Department have been sold during the quadrennium to the number of more than 30,000 copies.

Last, but by no means least, is our Conference organ, the Midland Methodist, most ably edited by our much loved and efficient Conference Secretary, Dr. J. A. Burrow. It stands in the very forefront of all our Church papers, and is the delight and helper of our Holston Methodist homes. It is newsy, orthodox, spicy and keen-edged, and has a circulation of more than 6,500 copies, of which 500 have been added to its circulation during the past year. Because of its high merit, mechanical and literary make up, its circulation should be doubled. We heartily recommend Dr. J. A. Burrow for re-appointment to its editorship and the continuance of Revs. J. W. Perry and Eugene Blake and Mr. Z. T. Godwin as the Publishing Committee of the Holston Conference.

J. W. SAYLOR, Chairman.

SUNDAY SCHOOL BOARD.

Your Sunday School Board submits the following report:

1. There has been a healthy progress in the Sunday School work of the Conference during the year.
2. There has been a healthy advance in the general Sunday School work of the Church, as shown by the report of Dr. James Atkins, read in the hearing of this Conference.
3. We note with pleasure the improvement to be made in our Sunday School literature, beginning the first of the year 1906.
4. We recommend more and more the use of our own literature in all of our Sunday Schools. We note with pleasure the appearance of Young People's Hymnal, No. 3.

We offer the following resolutions:

1. That we ask the preachers that they will, both from the pulpit and in pastoral work, urge parents to come to Sunday School and bring their children with them.
2. That we ask our preachers to prepare sermons specially for the children, and so preach to the children.
3. That we ask the presiding elders to give prominence to the Sunday School work in the District Conferences.
4. That a Sunday School rally be held in each pastoral charge in the Conference at some suitable time during the Conference year. The rally to be under the direction of the preacher in charge.
5. That the Conference Sunday School Board hold a superintendents' rally at some convenient time and place during the year.
6. That we continue to give our fifth Sunday collections to the Orphanage at Greeneville.

7. That the collections on one Sunday in each month be given to missions.
8. That all our schools continue to observe Children's Day, and give it the prominence which it deserves. As soon as collected all the money should be sent to our treasurer, Rev. A. B. Hunter.
9. That we continue to press the work of the Bible Teachers' Study Circle, organizing circles wherever we can for the instruction of our present corps of teachers, and for the training of a future supply of teachers for the Sunday schools.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

The Sabbath is a day of rest and of worship. The law is, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." The Master says, "Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets; I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill." The Christian Sabbath is the basis of Christian civilization. As a day of rest it must be observed, or the slavish chains of Mammon will sooner or later be forged to keep mankind in bondage. As a day of worship it must be regarded, otherwise the world will go back to heathendom and all good government will be destroyed.

The Sabbath is desecrated by many families of the church making it a day of social dissipation, thus retarding the progress of all departments of church activity and the development of personal piety. The Sabbath is desecrated by railroads through the indiscriminate running of freight and excursion trains on the holy day, by merchants and by laborers, so that communities are either demoralized or lost to the church, and the nation itself feels the inroads of infidelity. Let the ministers and the members of the church truly be the light of the world and the salt of the earth, and do all in their power to further Sabbath observance. Then will the world be made to recognize the Sabbath as a day to be consecrated to the service of Almighty God, and to the upbuilding of His kingdom.

BOARD OF MISSIONS.

The secretaries of the General Board of Missions report that "there has been no year in the history of the missionary work of our church, at home or abroad, in which we have made so great progress in aggressive evangelism:

and educational effort, and none which has given such substantial guarantees for larger results in the near future. There has been a large increase in membership, notably in Cuba, and the greatest financial advance in our history."

"Go Forward" ought to be in every Methodist home. It is packed with fresh and encouraging news from all the fields occupied by our church.

One of the most difficult problems of the church is to find well equipped and efficient pastors. The General Board, recognizing this need, have inaugurated at Nashville a Missionary Training School, which last year was most successful. The literature published as a result of it will extend the influence and usefulness of the school. When the work and purpose of this school was discussed in your Board, Col. J. C. Woodward of Knoxville, Tenn., made the following generous offer, which was accepted:

"I, J. C. Woodward, do agree with the Presiding Elders of this Conference and the Conference Board of Missions that for every fifty dollars each district will raise, through its Presiding Elder, for the purpose of sending two young men to the Missionary Training School, to be held at Nashville, Tenn., in January and February of 1906, will put up twenty-five dollars more for the third man. This proposition is to remain open until February 1, 1906. Said young men are to be nominated by the Presiding Elder for each several district and confirmed by the Executive Committee of the Conference Board of Missions."

The past year has been one of prosperity in most of the charges to which we have given aid. Gracious revivals have visited many of them, a dozen or more churches have been finished, others repaired, and plans are on foot for the erection of many others.

We are grateful to all, preachers and laymen, whose efforts have furnished the $8,000 we asked for, with a surplus of $62. The demands this year for help where it is greatly needed have embarrassed us, because we lacked at least $3,000 of having money enough subject to appropriation to meet these urgent requests. We regret that the burden of this must fall on the faithful men who serve our mission charges. In every case our Presiding Elders have been considerate and extremely modest in their applications as well as active in helping to bring up full collections. Our territory is passing through a period of unparalleled material development and evident increase in the population. We believe that God expects us to do our part for its spiritual development.

The General Board has apportioned to our Conference $12,100 to be raised for Foreign Mission, and your Board asks you for $8,250, which is far less than we need for the prosecution of our work. These amounts have been apportioned to the several districts as follows:

	Foreign	Domestic.
Tazewell .....	$1,200	$ 900
Radford .....	1,375	920
Wytheville .....	1,500	960
Abingdon .....	1,250	870

Knoxville .....	1,500	1,000
Cleveland .....	950	600
Chattanooga .....	1,375	900
Spring City .....	700	550

We have for some years past made some appropriations on condition that the charge so helped should make a stipulated increase in its contributions for pastor's salary. In every case these conditions have been fully met, and by this means charges that heretofore gave a very meager support to the ministry have advanced to the rank of those paying good salaries. This policy we desire to continue and extend. The following appropriations have been made subject to the conditions set forth in the minutes of this Board: Floyd, $150; Greeneville, $150; Mt. Vernon, $150.

Four new missions are established this year with appropriations as follows: Fort Blackimore, $75; Kimball, $75; Knoxville (Emerald Avenue), $90; Oakdale, $85.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE RECORDS.

Your Committee on District Conference Records respectfully submits the following report:

The records of Chattanooga and Spring City Districts were not before the committee.

With the exception of slight omissions the Big Stone Gap District record is well kept.

The Radford District record is well kept.

The record of Abingdon District is not well kept. Lack of neatness is noticeable, punctuation is defective, and spelling is incorrect.

The Tazewell District record is very well kept.

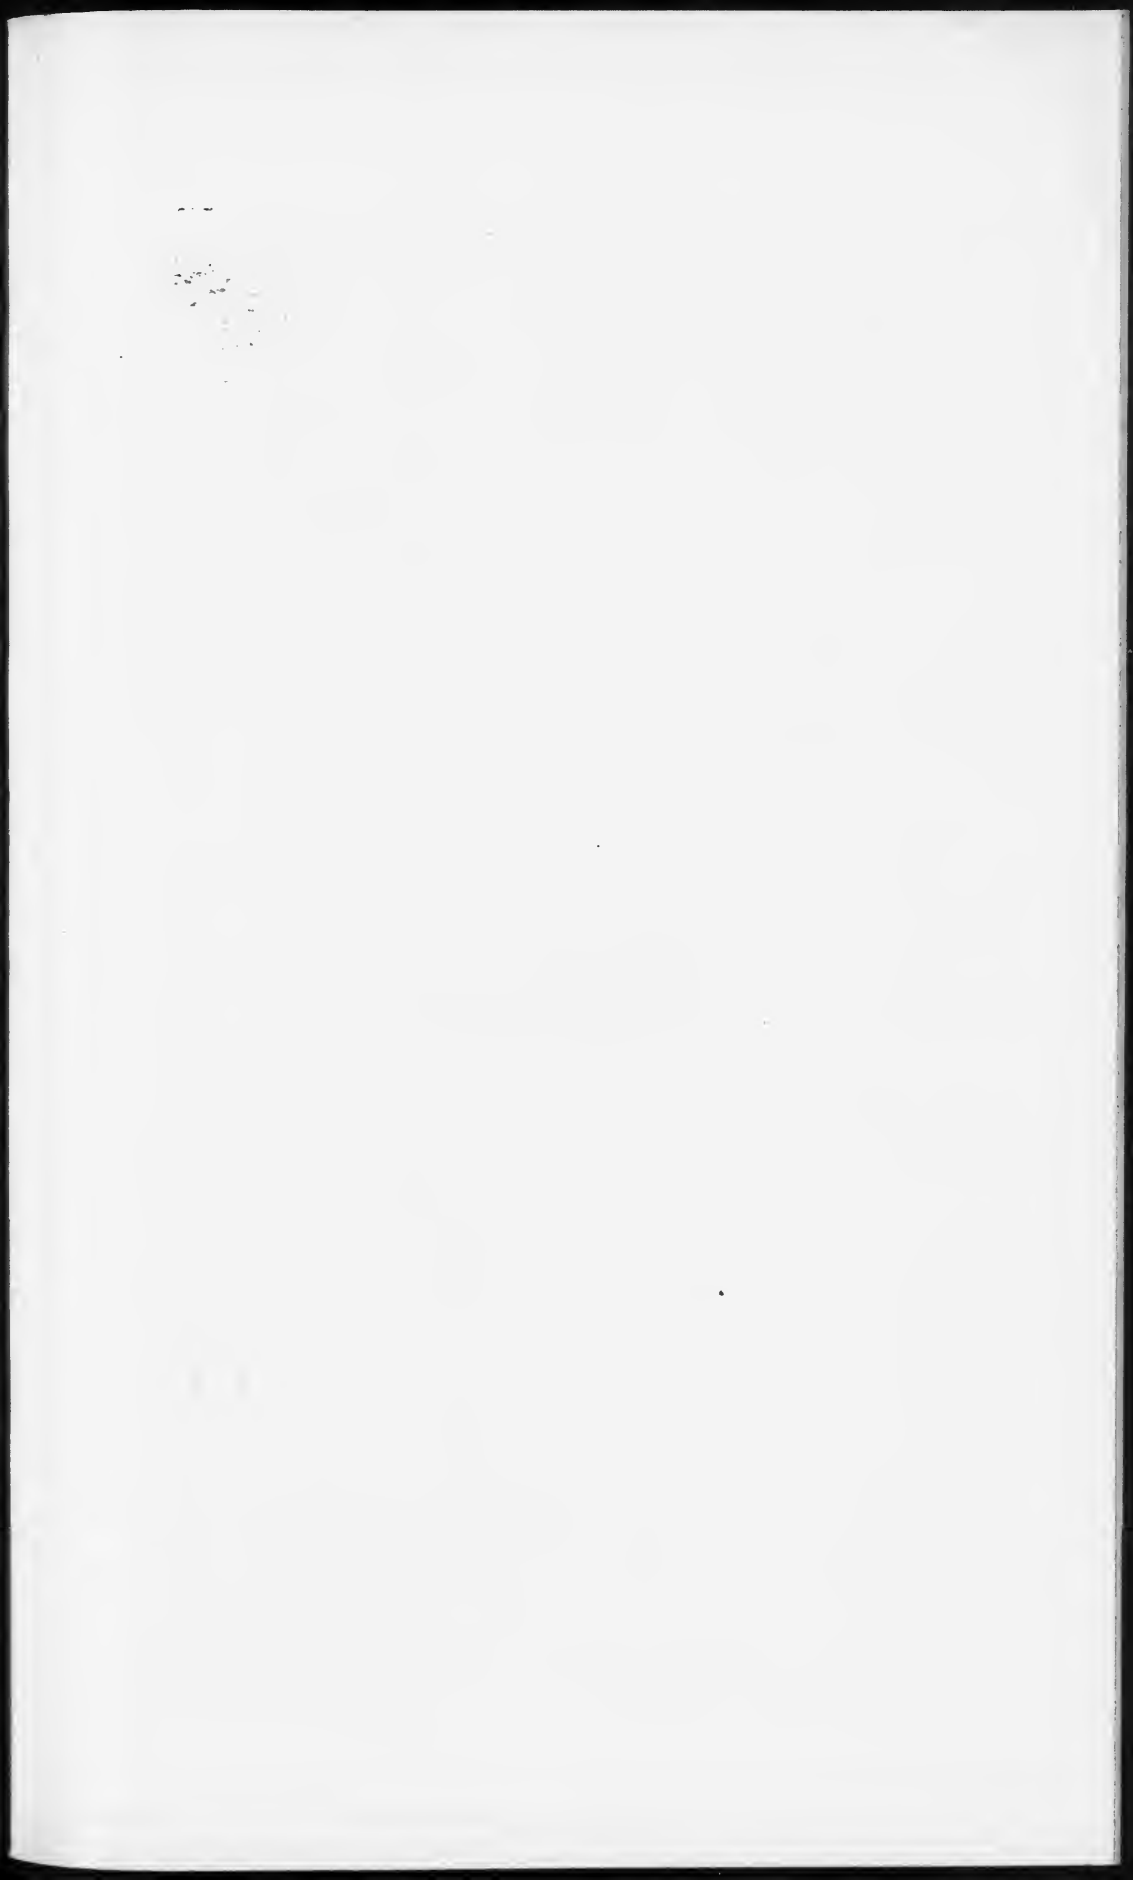

The record for Knoxville District is well kept, with the following exceptions: Instead of the regular District Conference record book an ordinary blank book is used, and dates are omitted.

In the Wytheville District record the penmanship is excellent, and the arrangement of matter good, but there are a few slight omissions and redundancies.

The Morristown District record contains error in dates, and the crowded condition of its contents detracts from the neatness of its appearance.

The Cleveland District record surpasses all the others. There are no corrections to be made, but many things to call for commendation. The penmanship is splendid, the arrangement of matter is excellent, and it is a model in every respect.

RUSH F. JACKSON.

Rush F. Jackson was born September 22, 1849, and crossed over the river to the eternity side of life February 15, 1905. In his twentieth year, under the ministry of Rev. Enoch W. Moore, he sought and obtained the priceless pearl—the forgiveness of his sins—and very soon thereafter joined the Methodist Church. He was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference of the Lead Mines Circuit October 8, 1881, Rev. J. M. McTeer, Presiding Elder; was admitted on trial into the Holston Conference in October, 1884, after having traveled as a local preacher two years; was ordained deacon by Bishop J. C. Keener at Cleveland, Tenn., in October, 1885, and ordained elder by Bishop R. K. Hargrove at Asheville, N. C., October 7, 1888. During his connection with the Conference he traveled the following charges: Hillsville Circuit, two years; Old Town Circuit, two years; Auburn Circuit, one year; Rural Retreat Circuit, three years; Elk Creek Circuit, four years; Abingdon Circuit, one year; East Tazewell Circuit, one year; Staffordsville Circuit, four years, and Abingdon Circuit again, one year and four months, where he laid down his armor and “ceased at once to work and live,” and at the Master’s call exchanged the cross for the crown. In all of these charges Brother Jackson was true and faithful, doing the full work of an itinerant minister.

He was happily married to Miss Mary Margaret Early, November 4, 1874. The officiating minister was Rev. B. W. S. Bishop. There were born unto them eight children, one of whom died in infancy. In the relations of husband and father, Brother Jackson was kind, indulgent and considerate, always taking a deep interest in the affairs of his home and doing all he could to make home happy and bring up his children “in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.”

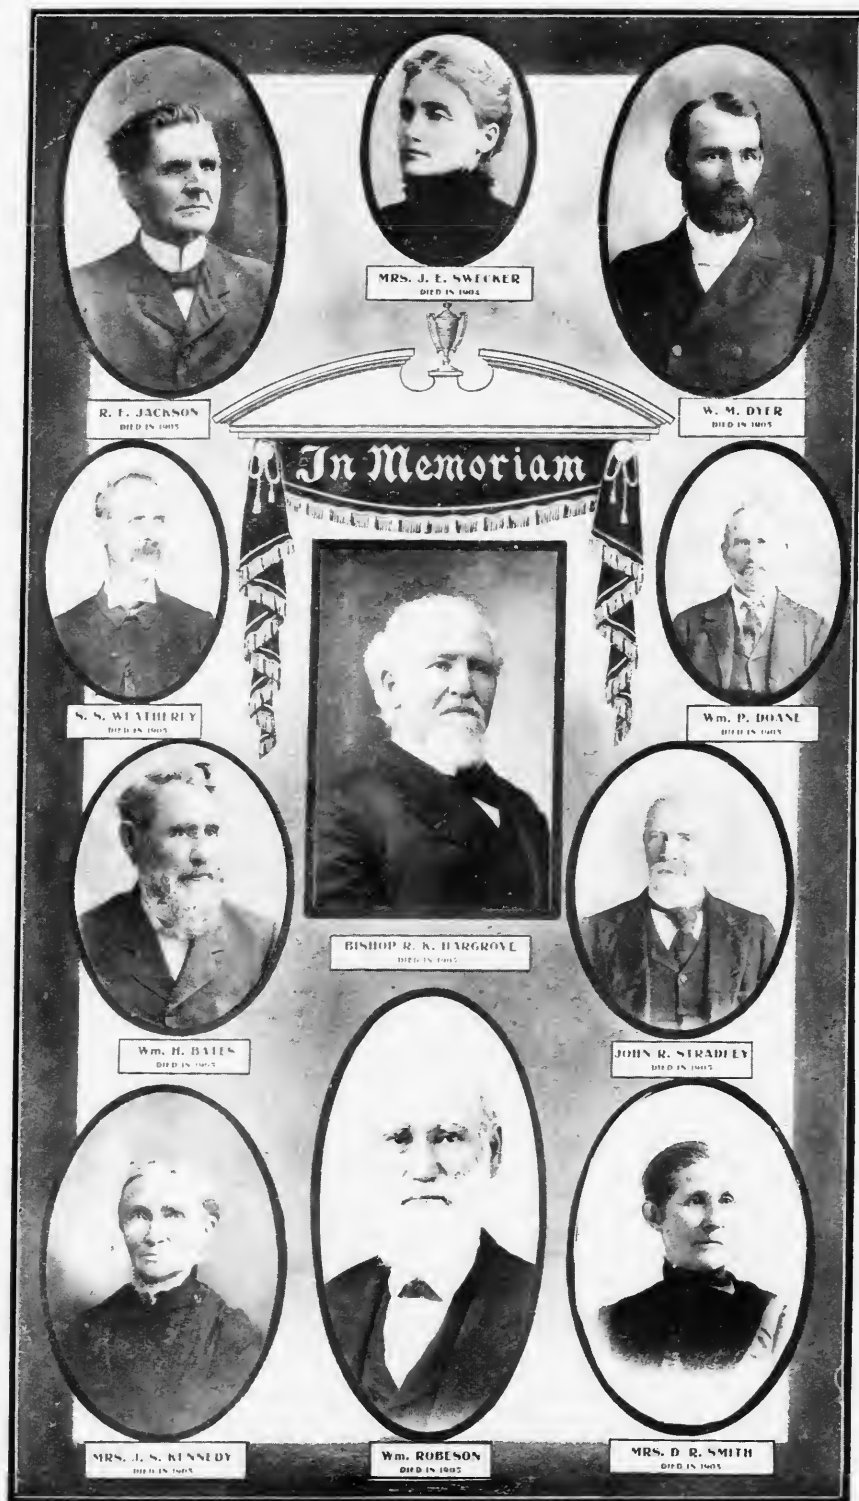

In his Christian life Brother Jackson was circumspect, cautious, prudent, watchful, vigilant and devout. He walked worthy of his high vocation. In many things he was exemplary; a pattern worthy to be followed.

As the magnetized needle in the mariner’s compass points with unerring certainty, in all climates, toward the pole, so every principle of Rush Jackson’s nature pointed steadily to the truth. He was sincere in his pretensions, honest in his dealings with his fellowman, and without any of the counterfeits in his nature. There was nothing of the false, the fickle, the disingenuous or the perfidious in his make-up. A true man in whom any one could rely without any fear of being deceived or disappointed.

(b) Another ruling quality of his nature was modesty. He was not bold or forward or presumptuous in an unbecoming or offensive manner, but rather unobtrusive and retiring in his conduct. Not thinking of himself more highly than he ought to think, but thinking soberly, he never obtruded himself or his opinions where he had reason to believe he was not wanted. He was so reserved and retiring in his nature that one had to be associated with him intimately to know and appreciate fully his real worth; and to have known him at his best was to love him.

He was so reserved and retiring in his nature that one had to be associated with him intimately to know and appreciate fully his real worth; and to have known him at his best was to love him.

(c) In the sum total of his character neatness was a prominent and noticeable element. He was neat and tidy in his person and clean in his conversation. Adopting Mr. Wesley’s aphorism, “Cleanliness is next to Godliness," he studiously guarded against a slovenly person and unchaste conversation. And this tidiness of his person was an index to the purity of his heart and the cleanliness of his thoughts. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he." During the last sixteen months of his life, including his last term of service on the Abingdon Circuit, I was associated with him a great deal—at his quarterly meetings, at his home, at my home, at the homes of some of his parishioners, on the way to and from his quarterly meetings—and I fail to call up the time that I ever heard him make use of an unchaste sentence. I think he was as free from unclean or unbecoming language as any man with whom I was ever associated.

(d) The law of kindness ruled also in his life. To his faith in God, and in Jesus Christ, His Son, he had added that other charming grace of the Spirit, "brotherly kindness." And so much was this principle a part of his very being that he was averse to giving pain to any person or thing. The lesson taught by St. Paul in the twelfth of Romans, "Be kindly affectioned one to another, with brotherly love, in honor preferring one another," he had learned well, so that the very warp and woof of his nature and every thread and fiber of his being were responsive to the calls for help from any of God's creatures. His kindness was evidenced in his home in his demeanor toward his wife and children, in his intercourse with his brethren, and in his conversation. He was particularly careful in his speech not to say unkind things of his brethren. Gentle, sympathetic, tender, generous and patient, his constant effort seemed to be to follow Him whose words, when here among men, were always intoned with a divine pathos and whose life was a constant revelation of infinite love.

Embodying and exemplifying these noble qualities, and others that might be mentioned, and continuing in them to the last, departing from the walks of men, he bequeaths to his family, to his church, and to the community where he lived, the greatest heritage that could be bestowed by any one—a good name, an untarnished character. As a preacher Brother Jackson was scriptural, earnest and fervent, aiming always by his efforts to edify the believers and to instruct the unsaved in the things of God.

"Was he ready when the summons came?" do you ask? I haven't the least doubt in my mind about that. Having lived the life of the righteous, a life of loving service in his Master's cause, his end was calm and peaceful and undisturbed by fears. He fell asleep in the arms of a supporting Savior as confidently and as sweetly as ever an innocent child went to sleep in the fond embrace of a loving, watchful mother.

We shall miss him at roll call, in the Conference room, among the toilers, but we shall meet him, thank God, if faithful, in our Father's house up yonder. May God bless the bereaved wife and children.

WILLIAM ROBESON.

William Robeson, oldest son of Rev. Alexander and Catherine Lynch Robeson, was born in McMinn county, Tenn., June 28, 1822, and died at his home at Blountville, Tenn., May 29, 1905, aged eighty-two years. He was reared under positive Christian influences, which co-operated with natural gifts in making him a superior man intellectually, morally, and spiritually. His literary training was such as was obtainable in the schools and academies of his section at that day. He mastered the rudiments of science and literature, and his orthography, orthoepy, grammar, and rhetoric were faultless—the product of superior intellect and careful study.

At an early date in his Christian career he felt a divine call to the ministry, which he did not care to ignore. He was licensed to exhort September 2, 1843, by Rev. Josiah Daughtry. He was licensed to preach at Cedar Springs Camp Ground, near Athens, Tenn., September 9, 1844. He was admitted on trial into the Holston Conference which met at Reem's Creek, Buncombe county, N. C., October 2, 1844, Bishop Edmund Storer Janes presiding. He was ordained deacon in 1846, and elder in 1848.

He was a member of the Conference fifty-nine years, in which time he traveled ten circuits in sixteen years, three districts in six years; was stationed one year in Bristol; was supernumerary one year, and superannuate thirty-five years. He was located at his own request in 1854, but remained local only one year. The circuits which he traveled and which indeed he had charge of were Little River, Pikeville, Pearisburg, Cleveland, Wytheville, Jonesboro, Abingdon, Blountville, Greeneville, and Ræatown. The districts which he traveled were Rogersville, Abingdon and Asheville, his district work beginning in 1866. At the close of his year on the Asheville District (October, 1873), he asked and obtained a supernumerary relation. At the end of that year he was placed on the superannuate roll, and he retained that relation to the close of his life. His first superannuation began in 1861, and continued five years; his second began in 1874, and lasted thirty years.

He was happily married to Miss Adaline Patton Easley, daughter of Vincent Easley, Esq., and Nancy Hamilton Easley. He is survived by his beloved wife and two sons, (Hon. William A. Robeson, of Morristown, Tenn., and Prof. James R. Robeson, of Blountville, Tenn.), and two daughters, (Mrs. E. C. Reeves, of Johnson City, Tenn., and Mrs. T. M. Weaver, of Washington, D. C.)

At the Holston Conference held during the war between the States, under the presidency of Bishop Early, Brother Robeson took conservative ground on action with reference to union preachers, casting his vote with the wise minority, who held that the jurisdiction of the Conference was purely spiritual.

Brother Robeson was twice honored with an election to the General Conference—that of 1858, and that of 1862, which was prevented from meeting by the state of the country.

His decline in health for a year had been marked, but he suffered no particular illness. He was up, and seemed to be in his usual health even on the day of his death. About one o'clock p.m. he came into his room, complained of weariness, lay down on his bed, and in a few minutes his spirit had departed.

So fades a summer cloud away;
So sinks the gale when storms are o'er;
So gently shuts the eye of day;
So dies a wave along the shore.

In person Brother Robeson was tall and not inclined to corpulency; he had a large, honest face. In his business and business transactions he was characterized by method and exactness; he was not profligate or wasteful. In theology he was not given to speculation, but was strictly orthodox and evangelical in his opinions; he possessed a strong will which opposed a stubborn resistance to any attempt to dislodge him from his convictions or his purposes. As a preacher he was decidedly above mediocrity, both as to matter and manner. His themes were well analyzed, and his meaning on no point could be mistaken. With an antagonist in his front he was stubborn and defiant; but he never fired on a flag of truce or trampled on a fallen foe. One would have thought that a man of his positive convictions and indomitable courage would have been scathing and denunciatory in his sermons, whereas they were usually characterized by great pathos and tenderness.

WILLIAM P. DOANE.

William Penn Doane, unlike the great majority of mankind, had in every way set his house in order against the time of his death. As far back as 1894 he had prepared a short, modest paper with regard to himself and his ministry, which, as a revelation of the man, is here produced:

"I was born in Jefferson County, Tenn., June 2, 1833. My parents, Jesse and Sarah Doane, were strict members of the Quaker church. I was converted at Cedar Grove, Jefferson County, in Rocky Valley, four miles below New Market, in July 1853. I have never had a reasonable doubt about the reality of my conversion. It was as clear as the noonday sun. It was from darkness to light, from wretchedness to joy unspeakable. I was recommended by the class at Cedar Grove to the Quarterly Conference for license to preach, without asking it. I consented to preach, I think, from a sense of duty. I have been trying to preach for thirty-five years. If I have been useful to any one, it is all grace. I have never given publicity to my successes or failures. The Lord knows all. That is enough for me. I have never sought prominence in the Church. To be a humble minister of a pure gospel has, I think, been the great object of life with me. My work as an itinerant has been hard, but pleasant. His Promise, 'Lo, I am with you,' has been graciously verified to me. I now look back over these thirty-five years hard and unremunerative toil with more pleasure than any worldly success or honor could give. I feel that I have made an honest effort to make the world better. Whether the effort has been successful or not, eternity will reveal. I believe the motive has been pure. It is my purpose firmly fixed to give the remnant of my life to God, and I have faith to believe that the end will be everlasting life. I give my family to the care of the preachers of the Holston Conference. A better company of men, it seems to me, never lived than these my brethren of the Conference. They preach a pure gospel from a sense of duty. I am willing to leave my family in their care. I was licensed to preach at Whortleberry Springs Camp Ground, Knox County, Tenn., by Rev. T. K. Munsey, in the fall of 1858, and joined the Holston Conference at Abingdon, Va., October 26, 1859, with a class of seventeen."

This brief and modest sketch reveals to us as nothing else could the heart of our departed brother. He then appends the long list of his appointments, till the day he was placed on the roll of honor (the superannuated list), in 1903. At the appropriate time and place his appointments will be put to record, and need not cumber this paper.

Brother Doane was a man generously endowed by nature. He had a fine physique, which, with training, would have made him a splendid athlete. He had a strong intellect and the rare quality of mind which enabled him to look on all sides of any question. He would have made a fine lawyer. In his heart were combined the sweetness and tenderness of a woman and the chivalric bravery of a knight. He was a manly man, and afraid of nothing but sin. He loved his friends with true and unfaltering devotion, and hated sin, especially the little meannesses with which preachers, in common with all other men, so often meet. In fact, being a man of strong passions and quick temper, he so much hated the sin that he was often tempted to castigate the sinner; but if overtempted to use carnal weapons, he did battle on the side of right, and when passion had subsided no man was more penitent than he.

He was educated at Holston College, at Strawberry Plains, Tenn. How much of the curriculum of that institution he mastered is not known; but we know that he was sufficiently trained to think closely, continuously, justly, and had the rare accomplishment of speaking and writing good English. He was much better educated than most preachers of his time. He mastered the Conference course year by year, as it came, being ordained deacon at the end of the second and elder at the end of the fourth year of his ministry. In the fifth year of his ministry he was united in marriage to Miss J. A. Keller, on the 24th day of May, 1864, by Rev. J. W. Dickey. The fruits of this union were ten children, five sons and five daughters. One son and one daughter, at the very threshold of mature life, preceded him to the better country. Eight children, together with the wife and mother, survive to mourn a noble, Christian father.

As a preacher Brother Doane was clear, strong, forceful, rather than what the world calls eloquent. He appealed to the reason and judgment of his hearers rather than to their æsthetic and sentimental natures. As men are saved by the truth, his ministry was not unfruitful. Many souls were saved in the revival meetings held in the charges he served. He was an unknown hero. He was sick for several months, but day by day he ripened for heaven. In his every utterance could be detected profound humility and unflinching faith in god. Tenderly the preachers of his Conference laid his body to rest at Friend's Station, in the full hope of a blessed immortality. May the blessings of Heaven rest on the stricken home.

J. R. STRADLEY, M.D.

John Ryland Stradley was born at No. 37 Ironmonger Street, London, England, June 15, 1825—the same day in which the foundation stone was laid for the New London Bridge. His parents moved to Asheville, N. C., three years later. He was converted under the ministry of Rev. David Sullins, D. D., and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church under Rev. R. N. Price, D. D., and was licensed to preach. His father was a Baptist minister. He had previously read medicine, and began to practice his profession in Burnsville, N. C. It was here he met and married Miss Harriet Newell Wilson, a young lady of rare grace and talents, November 16, 1872. To them were born eight children—W. Bascom, Mary E., Lillie A., Harvey E., Charles L., S. Lewella, S. Jane, and L. May.

He joined the Holston Conference in 1856. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Andrew in 1858, and elder by Bishop Paine in 1860. The devoted wife stood by him and shared all of his toils, sorrows, joys, and pleasures for more than thirty years, when she fell on sleep and went home to rest with the angels December 4, 1883. Dr. Stradley was married the second time March 18, 1886, to Miss Harriet E. Porter, who still survives him. Dr. Frank Richardson speaks of him thus: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the excellence of his character, both as a devout Christian and a thoroughly consecrated minister. He was an intense man, with a high sense of obligation and of honor. I recall with pleasure the many happy hours spent with him in his bright home, and indulge the hope of renewing the associations in the Land of Love." It was my pleasure to visit Dr. Stradley several times during his last illness, and I always found him cheerful and happy. He was a good man, a faithful and upright citizen, full of public spirit, and industrious to a fault. He fell quietly and peacefully on sleep January 17, 1905. We laid him away in the cemetery at Key's Chapel to await the resurrection of the just.

"Servant of God, well done!
Rest from thy loved employ;
The battle fought, the victory won,
Enter thy Master's joy."

EUGENE BLAKE.

WILLIAM M. DYER.

William M. Dyer, son of Nathan and Mary Dyer, was born in Wythe County, Va., June 17, 1857. He grew to young manhood under Christian influences, but was not converted until sometime during the year 1877, while attending school at Cedar Springs, Va. His sense of the need of salvation was deep and acute, and his repentance thorough and genuine, which resulted in a conversion conscious and powerful. He never forgot the time when God for Christ's sake forgave his sins and gave him a new heart. Soon after his conversion he joined the Church, and became an active and zealous member. Not long after his profession of faith, he felt a call to the ministry, and responded with true Christian loyalty.

He entered Emory and Henry College, and graduated from that institution in 1884. He was a good student, and stood well in his classes. In 1885 he joined the Holston Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and served in consecutive order the following charges: Junior preacher on the Lead Mines Circuit; Floyd Circuit, Pulaski Station, Radford Station, Tazewell Station, Broad Street (Knoxville), and Abingdon Station. In all, he was in the pastorate thirteen years. During his pastorate in Radford he was happily married to Miss Willie Fiege, of Floyd, Va. To them were given three bright sons, who, together with their heart-stricken mother, mourn his departure.

At the close of his four years' pastorate in Abingdon, he was elected President of Martha Washington College. It is indeed difficult to enumerate the virtues and so estimate the worth of such a life under any sort of limitations. His was a life of unusual endowment. Nature blessed him with a strong, analytical, and constructive intellect. His fine sanity was to be seen both in his pastorate and in the management of the colleges over which he was called to preside.

As a Christian he was a man of consecration and prayer. He attributed his success more largely to the blessing of God than to his own ability. He was a lover of the Holy Scriptures, and was a constant reader of the same. His views of theology were in strict accord with the Holy Scriptures. As a preacher he was careful and clear. His grasp upon the fundamental doctrines of the Bible showed him to be a preacher of unusual ability, and often the light both of his own mind and the Spirit of God flashed in beauty and power through his sermons. However, he was more of a practical than of a fanciful temperament, and practical results followed his preaching. The writer never knew him to appear before an audience when the man did not seem imbued with the gospel of Christ. The people always listened, and often hung upon his words.

As a pastor he held the esteem and love of his people, and was devoted to them in such a way as to make them love him strongly and tenderly. His ministrations in the homes of the poor and sick will never be forgotten by those receiving his instruction and consolation. He believed in the pastorate being evangelical, and often held his own revivals, and the good results of his meetings remain to this day wherever he labored. Many at the last day will rise up and call him blessed. But after all it was perhaps as College President that he rendered the most signal service to his Church. He took Martha Washington College at a crisis in her history, and managed her affairs with such wisdom as to soon evidence the fact that he had unusual executive ability. He was given to see through a business proposition quickly and to detect the advantages and disadvantages. We never knew we had such material for the college presidency until, like Saul, King of Israel, he was taken from his hiding and shown to be taller than his brethren. The interests of the college were always on his heart, and with much prayer he carried his cause to God.

After being President of Martha Washington College for seven years, he took Sullins College under his control, and at the time of his death had done much to bring these two institutions to the forefront of Christian education in the South. His success, considering the difficulties under which he labored, was phenomenal. His health was never robust, and he often labored under much weakness and suffering. For years he made a heroic fight for life. His last days were a pathetic struggle for prolonged earthly existence. He fought down almost to the very last hour, and did not give up until the last footing was entirely swept away; but when it was understood that he must go, he expressed a desire to leave a good testimony behind for Christianity's sake.

As he passed under the shadows he talked tenderly of his earthly interests and his family. He gave his sons his heart's desire concerning them, asked that the ministers of the Conference never forget his wife and children, and then said: "God's will be done." And so he sank to rest. Well done, thou faithful soldier of Jesus Christ. The warfare is over and the day is done.

"And at its close the sky
Tints in the west with gold,
And all things now rely
In trust till gates unfold
The morrow of God's will."

WILLIAM H. BATES.

William H. Bates was born April 16, 1821, in Franklin, Ala., and died at his residence in Knoxville, Tenn., October 6, 1905, having reached the age of eighty-four years, five months and nineteen days. His father, Ezekiel Bates, was a native of Wythe County, Va. He became a resident of Blount County, Tenn., from which place he moved to Alabama. After several years' residence there, he moved back with his family to Tennessee and settled on the Ross farm at Calhoun. When the Oconee treaty was made, the Bates family located permanently at Chatata, near Cleveland, Tenn. It was here young Bates grew up to manhood, toiling on the farm, developing muscle and brain. He took an active interest in the organization of the new county of Bradley, and in the erection of a church. A school also was established soon by W. H. Alderhoff, a Prussian, who was a very scholarly man and a superior teacher. It was here Mr. Bates was educated, and practically closed his school life. He built much, however, on this foundation.

Feeling that he was called of God to preach the gospel, and following what he sincerely believed to be the leading of the Holy Spirit, he applied for and was granted license to preach at Heneger's Chapel, in 1846. He was admitted on trial into the Holston Conference at Wytheville, Va., October, 1846, Bishop Capers presiding. His classmates were Wm. M. Kerr, Wm. Jones, L. W. Crouch, R. D. Wells, J. A. Reagan, N. S. Huffaker, W. W. Neal and W. T. Dowell. All but one, Dr. J. A. Reagan, have passed over the river. He was received into full connection at Knoxville, Tenn., October 1848, and ordained deacon at the same Conference, Bishop Paine presiding. He was ordained elder, October 16, 1850, at Abingdon, Va., Bishop Capers presiding.

His fields of labor embraced the following charges: 1846, Madisonville Circuit and Jellico Mission as junior under A. F. Shannon; 1847, Sevierville Circuit (this in Asheville District); 1848, Little River Circuit; 1849, Kingston Circuit; 1850, Dandridge Circuit; 1851, Chattanooga Station; 1852, Rogersville Station; 1853, Chattanooga Station; 1854, Knoxville Station, junior, under Timothy Sullins; 1855, Jonesboro Station; 1856, Abingdon Station; 1857, Asheville Station; 1858, Cleveland Station; 1859, New-bern Circuit; Athens Station; 1861, Presiding Elder Jonesboro District; 1862, Presiding Elder Jonesboro District; 1863, Presiding Elder Jonesboro District; 1864, Jeffersonville Circuit, with Jacob Smith as junior; 1865, Jeffersonville Circuit, with J. T. Frazier as junior; 1866, Bristol Station; 1867, Knoxville Station; 1868, Presiding Elder Knoxville District; 1869, Asheville Station; 1870, Asheville Station; 1871, Sulphur Spring Circuit; 1872, Franklin Circuit; 1873, Ducktown Station; 1874, Knox and Lenoir Circuits; 1875, Knoxville Mission; 1876, Knoxville Mission; 1877, Strawberry Plains Circuit; 1878, left without an appointment; from 1879 to 1904 he was a superannuate, with three exceptions: he was agent for Hiwassee College 1882, and 1883 appointed to Coal Creek Mines, and was a supernumerary in 1884; he was chaplain of the East Tennessee Asylum for the Insane, by appointment of the State and approved by the Conference.

Through a ministry of nearly sixty years, W. H. Bates wrought well for the Master in many fields of labor. Of medium stature, he was physically a very active and industrious man, capable of enduring much hardship.

In 1885, while stationed at Jonesboro, he was married to Miss Josephine Burts. Four children, two sons and two daughters, were born into their household.

His preaching was plain, earnest, pathetic and hortatory in its manner and subject matter. In his early ministry he traveled large circuits with as many as twenty-four appointments, making a round every four weeks. He was in the aggregation of the first pioneers who introduced Methodism into the Holston Country. They were days of much hardship and many privations. He was loyal to his Master to the last, and was well-read in the standard works of Methodist theology in his day. Given to prayer and earnest Bible study he was eminently a religious man. He possessed a warm, sympathetic nature, was a kind neighbor, and always on the alert to minister to the sick and unfortunate.

On many of the charges he served, his labors were wonderfully blessed in the conversion and salvation of the perishing. He was a good man, and consecrated his talents to the service of the Lord. He was without unholy ambitions, and aspired only to be like his Lord and Savior. After a comparatively short illness, he closed his long and useful life in peace.

SAMUEL S. WEATHERLY.

Samuel S. Weatherly was born in Washington County, Virginia, May 28, 1851; was killed by a train in Giles County, Va., October 5, 1905. When he was about twelve years old his parents moved to Scott County, Va., where he grew to manhood. In his thirteenth year he made a public profession of faith in Christ, and joined the M. E. Church, South. With the beginning of his Christian life he felt a burning desire for the salvation of souls, and was consciously called to preach the gospel. He at once began to apply every energy of his being to get ready for his life work. He was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference of Rye Cove Circuit, April 27, 1872, F. Richardson presiding. He was admitted on trial in the Holston Conference October, 1873, at Marion, Va.; ordained deacon October 22, 1876, by Bishop Wm. M. Wightman; ordained elder October 26, 1879, by Bishop G. F. Pierce, at Abingdon, Va.

He was married to Miss Mary Elizabeth Henry, June 19, 1875, at Hendersonville, N. C. He reared an interesting family of six children; one son being a promising young minister of the Indian Mission Conference in Oklahoma. His ministerial career covered the long sweep of thirty-two years. Ten of these years were spent in North Carolina, one in Tennessee and twenty-one in Virginia. He was junior preacher for two years; one year supernumerary, which was spent in teaching school; twenty-nine years were spent on circuits from one to three years; whole number of charges traveled, 21. In 1875 he transferred to the Baltimore Conference, but returned to Holston the same year. On all these charges he did good, faithful work, never failing to advance the interests of the Church. Dr. R. N. Price gives his appointments as follows: 1873, East Tennessee Circuit, as junior under G. A. Frazier, and admitted on trial; 1874, Liberty Hill Circuit; 1875, transferred to Baltimore Conference; 1876, Hendersonville Circuit, elected and ordained deacon; 1877, Sulphur Springs Circuit; 1878, Weaverville Circuit; 1879, Washington Circuit, elected elder and ordained; 1880, Brevard Circuit; 1881, Swannanoa Circuit; 1882, Swannanoa Circuit; 1883, supernumerary under Lyda in Swannanoa Circuit; 1884, Catawba Circuit; 1885, Catawba Circuit; 1886, Estillville Circuit; 1887, Estillville Circuit; 1888, Lebanon Circuit; 1889, Lebanon Circuit; 1890, Lebanon Circuit; 1891, Saltville Circuit; 1892, Rich Valley Circuit; 1893, Blountville Circuit; 1894, Abingdon Circuit; 1895, Abingdon Circuit; Clear Fork Circuit; 1897, Mt. Airy Circuit; 1898, Mt. Airy Circuit; 1899, Sharon Springs; 1900, Sharon Circuit; 1901, Grant Circuit; 1902, Grant Circuit; 1903, Staffordsville Circuit; 1904, Staffordsville Circuit.

Notwithstanding the meager salaries received all these years, he gave his children good educational advantages. Brother Weatherly left no patrimony to his children, but he left that which possesses greater value than money. "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches and loving favor than silver and gold." He was a man of pure character, clean lips. No one ever heard him utter an unchaste remark. He was prudent, discreet, modest, careful, studious, a good preacher and liberal almost to a fault. It is known to a few of his intimate friends that during the last years of his life he gave the tenth of his meager income to the connectional interests of the Church.

His last charge was the Staffordsville Circuit, where he did some of the best work of his life. He was honored and loved by all his people. As a compliment to him, and of the love and affection they bore toward him, and his family, it is the universal desire of those good people to have the bishop in charge of this Conference send the son of our deceased brother as their pastor for the ensuing year. No man has lived in vain whose son takes up a noble work where the father laid it down.

The manner of his death was tragic and harrowing in the extreme. He had gone to a rock quarry at Eggleston, Va., where he had a congregation. He held some small unpaid subscriptions to the benevolent enterprises of the Church, which he was trying to collect. He was there at the noon hour, so as to find the men at leisure. He was walking a short distance from the tunnel immediately near the railroad track. His attention was drawn by the noise of the crusher, and also by the dinner whistle. He did not realize that danger was near. A fast train came bounding out from under the mountain and struck him in the back and hurled him some distance away, killing him instantly. Only a few days previous he was heard to remark that he had an impression that he would die suddenly. His body sleeps at Emory, Va., by the side of many of our fathers and brethren in the ministry. No soldier on guard ever more truly died at the post of duty than did he.

"The voice at midnight came;
He started up to hear,
A mortal arrow pierced his frame—
He fell, but felt no fear."

R. A. OWEN.

MRS. J. E. SWECKER.

Lillie Dove Dickerson was born August 2, 1871, near Floyd, Va. At seventeen she was converted and received into the Church. Before the same altar, September 27, 1892, she was united in marriage to Rev. J. E. Swecker, of the Holston Conference. In the parsonage of the Auburn Circuit, at Riner Va., November 5, 1904, she passed out of touch and sight into life invisible but eternal. During the years of her itinerancy she went heroically and cheerfully to every appointment, and worked zealously for the cause to which her husband had given his life. How efficiently she worked, the charges that they served can testify. She was a tower of strength to her husband and her Church. Some of us can hear her voice in prayer now, as she pleaded so tenderly and simply for the children and young people and penitents at the altar. In the missionary societies she was almost invaluable. In visits to the people she received a warm and eager welcome. Everybody had confidence in her, everybody who knew her loved her. I have never seen a Methodist preacher's wife who held a higher place in popular esteem.

In her home she was quiet, patient, kind, thoughtful. Her word was implicitly obeyed by the children. Kindness did not give way to slipshod authority. Yet she was gentle and tender. It was always a pleasure to visit that home and to see in every action the work of this devout and sensible wife and mother. The instruction of her children was the chief occupation and joy of her life. The children believed in her and in her teaching and in her consecrated walk. Their childish hearts took early hold of the child's Christ, and they knew what Church membership, prayer, and penitence meant. The baby, Lorena Gilby, preceded her mother to the better world by a few months only. Olive, Lucy and James are left to be the better forever for that mother's care.

A sudden attack of pleurisy developed into a tubercular trouble, which did its quick work in ten short months. She was patient in her suffering and brighter in her Christian faith as the weeks passed. Like a bruised rose, her life gave out the sweeter fragrance. Once, at midnight, after much suffering, she awoke out of a brief snatch of rest, and sang sweetly a stanza of her favorite song:

"There's a word of tender beauty
In the sayings of our Lord;
How it stirs the heart to music,
Waking gratitude's sweet chord!
How it tells me that my Father
From his lighthouse evermore
Bends to note the falling sparrow,
For 'tis precious in his sight.
In my Father's blessed keeping
I am happy, safe, and free;
While his eye is on the sparrow,
I shall not forgotten be."

On the morning of her last day she called the children to her side and gave them tender instruction and a loving benediction. When husband and children wept, she said: "I do not weep; I hope this is not wrong." Beautifully she lived; triumphantly she died. Her influence remains to bless her household and the Church.

J. A. BURROW.

MRS. MELINDA WILLIAMS KENNEDY.

This noble woman passed into her reward April 14, 1905, at the home of her son, Mr. E. M. Kennedy, in Knoxville, Tenn. Her honored husband, six children, two sisters, and other friends and relatives were at her bedside. She had filled out the measure of three score and ten years and more. She was the daughter of Methodist parents, Rev. Thomas Stringfield and Sarah Williams Stringfield. At the time of her birth, March 16, 1833, her parents were living at Strawberry Plains, Tenn. She attended school at the East Tennessee Institute, while Dr. D. R. McAnally was its president, from which institution she graduated. It was during this period that she was happily converted in a meeting in Church Street Church, conducted by its pastor, Dr. W. G. E. Cunyningham, assisted by Dr. McAnally, and at its altar took the vows of Church membership. It is remarkable that she being the daughter and the wife of an itinerant, should, after fifty-eight years, be taken from the altar of the same church for burial, and from its fellowship to the Church triumphant.

August 26, 1851, She was joined in matrimony to the Rev. J. S. Kennedy, who lingers on this side of the stream of life. Their itinerant life was begun in 1852 in the Virginia Conference, where they gave themselves to the work of the Church until 1857, when they transferred to the Holston Conference. The daughter of a Methodist preacher, she had the spirit and endowment to be an itinerant's wife, and for more than fifty-three years shared with her husband all the joys and blessings as well as the trials and sorrows, incident to a traveling preacher's life. Her great sorrow was when Dr. Kennedy, because of failing health, was constrained to ask for a superannuated relation.

She lived an active life, alway busy, cheerful and hopeful. Ten children were born into the home, eight of whom survive, and to all she was a most faithful mother. Her devotion to them and her husband was sunshine. But, amid all her duties of her home, she found time and opportunity to be neighborly, to take an active interest in the woman's societies, the Sunday school and all the work of the Church. Her Christianity was experimental and practical; she loved her Lord and delighted to imitate Him in all good works, being ever ready to minister to the needy and relieve suffering and distress even at the cost of great personal sacrifice.

A fine sense of humor and quick wit which she possessed added to her personal and social charms. She kept open house, and delighted to dispense a Christian hospitality. The blessing of that home is on the heads of many besides her immediate family. It was like a breath from heaven to be in its atmosphere.

She was an earnest and devout student of the Bible all her life long, and it refreshed her in her last hours to dwell on its words. It was her habit to spend the Sunday afternoons studying over its pages with her children. One of our preachers who in his boyhood enjoyed the privilege of that inner circle says: "Some of the most useful sermons I preach grew out of those meetings. My interest in Christian missions began at that time."

It would be reasonable if one so conversant with the Holy book and so filled with the spirit of her Master, had not been missionary in the truest sense. She rejoiced that God in his providence made her son, J. L. Kennedy, and her daughter, Mrs. Brown, missionaries in Brazil, which was the last word she was heard to speak. She lived to see all her surviving children earnest Christians and active members of the Church.

Soon after her husband retired from active labors in the ministry her health began to decline and for the last two years of her life on earth she was a confirmed invalid. At times she suffered great pain, but always with great patience and fortitude, acquiescing in the divine will. Her faith did not fail, but having won so many victories, was triumphant at the last. Calmly and in great peace she passed from the earthly tabernacle into the heavenly home. Often she said to her husband: "I have no preparation to make; I am ready and anxious to go to heaven." She was ripe for the kingdom, and has gone into the realms of light and love.

"Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints."

MRS. DAVID R. SMITH.

The subject of this sketch, Sophie Wolfe, was born in Wise County, Va., December 29, 1832. She professed religion and united with the M. E. Church, South, in the year 1857, in whose pale she lived an active and faithful member for forty-eight years. She was happily married to David R. Smith May 5, 1854. The home of this couple was blessed with seven children, two of whom have gone to their reward. Five survive to mourn the irreparable loss of a sweet, tender, devoted mother, who "went home" August 1, 1905.

In the fall of 1868 Brother Smith was received on trial into the Holston Conference, M. E. Church, South, where, as his health allowed, he labored faithfully for twenty years. Brother Smith was not an itinerant when he was married. Little did this good woman anticipate that she would be called on to give up the prospect of a settled home, so dear to every true woman's heart, and accompany her husband in all of the trials and hardships of his future life as a Methodist preacher. Yet how cheerfully and joyfully she did this even in the days of disorganization and poverty immediately following the Civil War, as well as to the end of life, all who knew her will bear witness. She never repined or complained. Her house was the home of cheerful gladness and comfortable cleanness. Her hospitality was unstinted and delightful.

Brother Smith, like many others who came to manhood during the Civil War, had few opportunities to attain to that broad and liberal culture which makes it possible for an individual to aspire to place and position among his brethren. Hence he was an humble-minded man, content to work for God and humanity. Therefore his work was in the rural districts, where the people were poor and had not been educated to pay into the treasury of the Lord that which they were able to contribute. His salary was never more than $500. Sometimes it dropped to $200. It did not average more than $300. How any man could on this feed and clothe a family of seven, and educate his children is a problem I am not able to solve. Nothing but the most untiring industry and the most careful and persistent economy could possibly accomplish it. But by the heroic help of the presiding genius of the home, the little woman who walked by his side, the children were well fed, well clothed, well educated, and when he went to his reward he left her a cozy and comfortable little home in the town of Rogersville.

In her earlier womanhood Sister Smith had not only an attractive personality, making friends wherever she went, but she was industrious and domestic almost to a fault, but wholly devoted to her family and the great cause for which her husband labored and suffered. In all of his successes she was the power behind the throne. I have great sympathy for the women, who do not profess to be called to this work, except indirectly, and who "stay by the stuff" while their husbands join the battle. After a great struggle, it may be, he sees the material interests of the work prosper, and rejoices in victory. He hears the cry of the penitent and the shout of newborn souls, and tastes of the most royal of all human joys. She lives on the plainest fare, and goes the same monotonous round of housekeeping, cooking, sweeping, nursing, mending, in which there is no inspiration. She does all out of pure love and devotion to God, her husband, and her family. Sister Smith was a heroine of the highest order. Some months before her translation, her mind was not quite clear. She had the notion that she was not at home, and wanted to go home. The night of the last day of July, one of her sons having just returned home, she sat on the porch and conversed till after her usual time of retirement. On retiring she asked the family to leave the door ajar, that she might hear their conversation. The next morning she arose and dressed, but had laid down again on another bed in the exact position she always rested and slept. Without moving a limb or even a muscle, so far as any one could judge, and without pain, she had gotten her heart's desire and had "gone home." How blessed such a life and such a death—if it were death!
